

CONTACTS

There are at least three catalogs that any shooter should have. The first is Brownells. It's chock full of tools and gadgets for the hobby shooter or the professional gunsmith. If it's used for working on guns, chances are the Brownells book has it.

Sinclair International has the precision shooter in mind. Its product line contains performance-oriented cleaning tools and supplies. Sinclair also publishes a book called Precision Reloading & Shooting Handbook that has an excellent section on cleaning rifle barrels.

Stoney Point has the cleaning-rod bore guides mentioned elsewhere as well as other unique shooting products.
